

Description of the Board Game of Golf

The golf board game is a game of chance and skill. It is played exactly like the real game of golf, with each player selecting golf clubs of woods, irons, pitching wedges, and putter. The various woods, irons, and wedges available to the player are as follows with their range of driving distances.

Woods	Wood Driving Distance
One (1) Wood	220 to 320 yards
Three (3) Wood	175 to 275 yards
Five (5) Wood	150 to 225 yards

Irons	Iron Driving Distance
One (1) Iron	175 to 235 yards
Three (3) Iron	125 to 195 yards
Five (5) Iron	100 to 160 yards
Seven (7) Iron	65 to 125 yards
Nine (9) Iron	50 to 95 yards

Pitching Wedge	35 to 75 yards
----------------	----------------

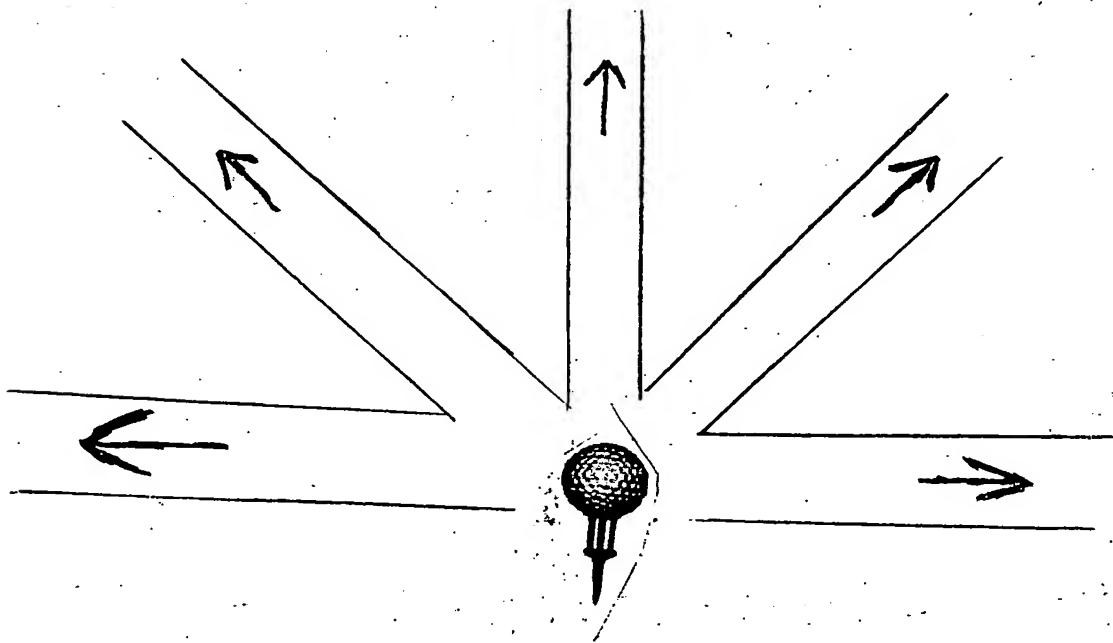

Sand Wedge	5 to 30 yards
------------	---------------

Just like the real game of golf the player selects and announces the club he is using before each drive or play. Before the player draws his card, he states he is using either a Wood, Iron, Pitching Wedge, or Sand Wedge including the number. Example – Player selects a 3 Wood. The player then draws a card. Each card has the following information on it as shown on the card format below.

WOOD					East	West
1	3	5
370	275	170				65
IRON					East	West
1	3	5	7	9
210	170	145	85	90	25
PW	SW	PUTT
65	15	2

First, the player looks at the board/course to determine club and distance to the pin. He decides and begins play: An example of play would be as follows:

- (1) The golfer states that he is using a 3 iron.
- (2) He draws a card from the top of the deck and looks at the Iron section of the card. The card will show the distance and direction the ball was hit: example above the ball was hit 130 yards to the east side of the course space 25.
- (3) He then moves his ball to the spot shown on the card.
- (4) Each player takes a turn the same way as explained for the first player.
- (5) Now the player looks at the distance he is from the putting green. Again, he selects/announces the club he is using. Based on the distance and direction he is from the green.
- (6) He draws a card from the top of the deck and looks for the club he selected/announced. In this, case a Pitching Wedge. The card shows the distance the pitching Wedges hit the ball. When a Pitching wedge is used, you select the direction and move the number of yards shown. When a Pitching Wedge or Sand Wedge is selected, you can move one in a straight-line, such as forward, sideways or diagonal.

WOOD						East	West
1	3	5
305	205	150				25
IRON						East	West
1	3	5	7	9
185	135	100	50	70			20
PW	SW	PUTT
60	5	1

Since a Pitching Wedge was used the player moves his ball in one of the directions forward, backward, sideways, or diagonally that gets him closest to the green or on the putting green.

(7) The other player(s) draw their cards and do the same once all players are on the putting green each player now draws a card to see how many putts it takes to sink the putt.

This repeated at each hole until a 9 or 18 hole round of golf is completed.
